HARDING ORDERS U. S. TROOPS OUT OF GERMANY

CONTRACTORS NOW STUDYING PLANS OF NEW SCHOOL

Bids for Plant Will Be Opened on January 25; Grammar Board Meets

The Glendale Union high school board of trustees last night at the high school held its regular monthly meeting.

Contractors in Southern California are paying considerable attention to the bids for the new high school plant, according to a report by Principal George U. Moyse, who stated that fourteen different firms were studying the general specifications.

The board agreed to award the contract as soon as possible after the bids have been opened at 2 o'clock, January 25.

Dr. Harry V. Brown, member of the board of trustees, was appointed to represent it upon the civics committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

In order that the junior mechanics of the high school may remove more of the grime from their hands before departure, Daniel Hunsberger of 412 West California avenue, was given a contract to install a hot water heater in the mechanical arts building.

The establishment of classes in lip reading provided enough interest should be manifested was authorized. The board agreed to pay the expenses of both afternoon and evening classes if the demand for instruction should warrant this action.

Grammar School Board In Session Last Night

The grammar school board of education met last night in its quarters at 109 South Brand boulevard and discussed several matters of school administration.

The employment of six additional teachers commencing with the new term was authorized. These will be appointed by the "teachers' committee" consisting of Mrs. A. A. Barton, Mrs. Arthur Brown and Superintendent Richardson D. White.

Contracts were awarded to Contractor G. Edwin Murphy of 509 West Lexington drive to construct a bungalow 26 by 36 on the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school grounds for $890 and one 24 by 36 on the Broadway school grounds for $835. It was specified that the work must be completed in a certain reasonable length of time. The bungalow on the Glendale Avenue Intermediate grounds eventually will be moved to the Acacia school grounds and used for a kindergarten.

The widening of Forest avenue between Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard was brought up by Charles F. Stuart, representing the Glendale Advancement association, and V. B. Stone, assistant city engineer.

Propose Conference

After some discussion, a resolution was passed requesting the City Council to call a conference of representatives of the Glendale Advancement association, the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association, the South Glendale Improvement association, and the Cerritos Parent-Teacher association.

The co-operation of the board of education in the community service program was sought and obtained by V. M. Hollister, president of the local community service organization and Mrs. Charles Toll. The board pledged itself to appropriate $1000 out of its next budget to maintain summer playgrounds similar to those maintained last summer.

A report of the mass meeting held in the Cerritos school last Saturday night was submitted by Col. J. W. Everington, chairman of the Southern Glendale section of the Committee of Fifteen. Other members of his committee, who were present last night, were: Mrs. O. W. Esselman and Ernest Morgan, W. E. Hewitt, chairman of the committee, was present also.

Millionaire Wrigley Ill, Is Better Today

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 10.—William Wrigley, millionaire chewing gum magnate of Chicago, reported ill at his home here of toxic poisoning, declared to be the result of over-work, was said to be much better by attaches of his household today.

Mr. Wrigley recently came to California to attend the Tournament of Roses here on January 1, following a breakdown in Chicago which was followed by a relapse, according to physicians. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips K. Wrigley, his son and daughter-in-law recently arrived here from Chicago bringing with them Dr. Julias C. Strong.

Prison for Vamps, Is Bill Proposed to State Legislature

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—A law drawn by Superior Judge Samuels of Oakland received here today for introduction in the legislature makes vamping a felony punishable by five years in the penitentiary.

"Male and female vamps have become a menace to the country," said Judge Samuels in a letter accompanying the bill, "and the only solution for the problem is to put them behind prison bars for wrecking the married life of our citizens.

"They are stealing a love that should be given to a husband or wife who may have sacrificed everything else in life to make the other happy and to rear a family.

"They are also stealing the opportunity to become reputable citizens from hundreds of children."

Union Ice Company Starts on Building

Ground was broken this morning at 240 North San Fernando road for the first unit of the local plant to be erected for the Union Ice company of Los Angeles.

"The building itself will cost $15,000," stated D. H. Fry, superintendent of the Union Ice company. "When the machinery is installed, there will be an approximate outlay of $70,000."

The first unit of this plant is scheduled for completion in approximately three months and will be furnishing ice to Glendale homes this summer. Other units will be added as needed. Mr. Fry estimates that the ultimate value of the plant will be over $250,000.

GOV. RICHARDSON USING KNIFE ON BUDGET PLEAS

State Executive to Make Numerous Cuts to Carry Out Economy Pledge

BULLETIN

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Frank Johnson, former deputy state treasurer, will be appointed state superintendent of banks by Governor Friend W. Richardson, according to authoritative reports in the capitol today.

Johnson was one of Richardson's supporters during the governorship campaign and served under the new governor in the treasurer's office.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Governor Friend W. Richardson is today busily engaged in cutting to pieces budget requests of state departments for the coming biennum which total $100,000,000.

Announcement of the total amount of the requests made by the various state boards was made by Gilbert B. Daniels, chairman of the board of control, who stated that the requests are $18,000,000 in excess of the estimated revenue of the state for the next two years.

Richardson has announced that he will cut the budget to $79,000,000, which will necessitate lopping off appropriations totaling $21,000,000.

Await Appointments

With the business of inaugurating a new state administration out of the way, the legislature today settled down to the legislative tasks confronting it.

Chief interest in both upper and lower houses centered in forthcoming committee appointments. As the make-up of the committees wields a vast influence on the nature of legislation enacted, all members were awaiting anxiously announcements which will give them an inkling of what chance their pet measures stand in committee.

With completion of the senate organization today, both houses were ready to receive bills and indications were that there would be a flood tide despite the appeal of Governor Richardson to keep the measures down to a minimum—enacting quality rather than quantity.

Policemen, Firemen Form Organization

Higher efficiency in joint duties, good fellowship and social activity are three of the good reasons given by Glendale policemen and firemen for the organization of the Glendale Policemen's & Firemen's association. There are forty policemen and twenty firemen belonging to the new organization, which has grown out of meetings that have been held during the past two months.

Officers of the association are Detective Sergeant W. J. Royal, president; Fire Captain R. E. Dodsworth, vice-president; Detective Sergeant J. H. Simmons, secretary; Assistant Fire Chief E. C. Fairchild, treasurer.

Mr. Dodsworth is also chairman of the entertainment committee and he is now working on plans for a grand ball to be held in the near future.

Plan Peace Move In Near East Trouble

LAUSANNE, Jan. 10.—A decision to allow the patriarch of the Greek orthodox church to remain in Constantinople, which Lord Curzon, head of the British delegation described as "a tremendous step towards peace" was taken in the near east peace conference today.

Uncle John Says--

Mary says she read that John Wanamaker never did no advertisin' except in newspapers. She says the way the front porch is cluttered up with bills and circulars every day, there's a lot that will never be Wanamakers. Mary says Wanamaker never forced an advertisement on any one by stickin' it up in front of 'em on a billboard or pushin' it under their door. He always put 'em where people would expect to find 'em, in the newspaper they paid for.

War Time Patriotism Breaks Out Among Germans As France Masses Troops For Invasion

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service

ESSEN, Jan. 10.—With France massing 50,000 troops in the northern sector of the occupied zone for seizure of the Ruhr and Rhineland industrial belt, war time patriotism flamed up among the Germans here today. Crowds surged through the streets singing "Deutschland Uber Alles."

France-Belgian troop concentrations continued throughout the day. However, none has yet crossed the Ruhr boundary. The Franco-Belgian military lines extend outside of Kettwig, Muelheim and Ratingen.

There have been no outbreaks despite the appearance here of French officers and the requisition of buildings for French barracks, but the people are in a sullen, resentful frame of mind and are determined to do what they can to hinder occupation.

Dissolution of the great Rhineland coal syndicate is a severe blow to French plans for economic exploitation of the Ruhr. The syndicate controlled more than 100 of the most important mines in the district, including those owned by Hugo Stinnes. It now will be necessary for the French to deal with the mine owners individually for purposes of appraising output, number of men at work, payrolls and the like. The books and records were removed from Essen today. They are being shipped to Hamburg.

Germans declared that as soon as the first French troops enter the Ruhr delivery of reparations coal will cease. Under present conditions, a 6000-ton coal train leaves the Ruhr every half hour for allied delivery.

Relations of various nationalities in the Rhineland are mixed. French and Belgians are most cordial. The English are cool, but courteous. The Americans are aloof and silent.

LOCAL PUBLIC TO GET TAX DETAILS

Collector Rex Goodcell to Give Information at Meeting Tomorrow

The government's annual income tax drive in the southern California district will be started in Glendale tomorrow night when Rex Goodcell, collector of internal revenue, and his assistant, A. G. Wessling, will address Glendalians at the forum meeting to be held by the Chamber of Commerce in the chamber's assembly room.

James Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, stated this morning that the big public meeting will be started at exactly 7:30 p. m. Everybody interested in explanations of income taxes is welcome to attend the lectures, he said.

Jesse E. Smith, president of the chamber, will preside. Mr. Smith says he is confident that a large gathering of business men and women will turn out to hear Messrs Goodcell and Wessling.

Full Information

Every phase of the filing of income tax returns will be discussed by the speakers. And according to word received from Los Angeles, Mr. Goodcell's speech will not only be educational, but it will be of vital interest to everyone whose income brings him within the scope of the income tax laws.

The communication says also that the lecture campaign started by Mr. Goodcell is timely in that emphatic instructions with regard to penalizing taxpayers who make a practice of filing incomplete sales tax returns have just been received from Washington.

Collector Goodcell and Mr. Wessling are scheduled to visit every large city in the Los Angeles district for the purpose of educating people regarding the income laws.

Rudolph Streit New Association Leader

Rudolph Streit was elected president of the West Glendale Improvement association, at its meeting in the Columbus Avenue school last night. Other 1923 officers elected were L. M. Young, vice-president, and A. R. Goodale, secretary-treasurer.

A new executive committee was also elected, consisting of J. R. Gray, H. L. Finlay, Louis Badour, Mrs. Lyons and Mrs. McCord.

A membership committee of three was appointed, Messrs. Newby and Bedour, and Mrs. Lyons.

A letter from the civics committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to the West Glendale Improvement association was read. The letter suggested some sort of affiliation for community welfare. It was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Streit, Grey and Newby.

The next meeting of the association will be the night of the second Tuesday in February, at the Columbus Avenue school.

SENATE TO PROBE GREAT OIL DEAL

Retirement of Secretary Fall Hastens Inquiry Into Transaction

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The completed naval bill for 1924, carrying $325,000,000 and specifically requesting President Harding to summon another armament conference to limit submarines and aircraft, passed the house this afternoon and was sent to the White House for the president's signature.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Spurred into activity with the approaching retirement of Secretary of the Interior Fall from the cabinet, the senate will proceed at once to full and complete investigation of the deal by which Fall leased the government's vast oil reserve at Tea Pot Dome, Wyo., to the Sinclair interests, Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, declared today. The immediate step by the senate, Walsh said, will be appointment by the public lands committee of two geological experts to determine the truth of the assertion that oil at Tea Pot Dome would have been drained away by adjoining wells had it not been leased to private interests for exploitation.

Walsh and Senator Kendrick, Democrat, of Wyoming, appeared before the committee today and secured permission to name the experts who will conduct the probe for the senate. At Walsh's special request, however, the appointments will not be announced until the committee meets again next week. Two experts from the United States geological survey will be selected, it was said.

When the findings of the geologists have been completed, Walsh will ask the investigation be widened.

Seek More Latitude

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The first move in congress to give the American debt funding commission greater latitude in its negotiations with the British and other European debtors, will be made in the senate immediately by Senator Calder, Republican, of New York, it was learned this afternoon.

Following a conference with President Harding, Calder planned to go before the senate finance committee with legislation to permit the debt commission greater liberality in fixing maturity dates and rates of interest.

Governor Is Opposed to Industrial Law

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 10.—Repeal of the Kansas industrial court law and substitution of a board of arbitration to supplant it was the outstanding feature of Governor Jonathan M. Davis' first message to a joint session of the two houses of the Kansas legislature here today.

25TH ANNIVERSARY OF TUESDAY CLUB IS CELEBRATED

Record Gathering Is Present In Honor of Birthday; Program Big Success

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

The Tuesday Afternoon club celebrated its twenty-fifth birthday yesterday afternoon with an exceptionally brilliant and talented program presented to a record club gathering in the Masonic temple by Harold Proctor, tenor; Conrad Nagel, actor and reader, and his father, Dr. Frank Nagel, pianist and composer.

It was twenty-five years ago yesterday that Mrs. Philip Walter Parker entertained ten women at a party, celebrating her birthday, and out of this social function grew the Tuesday Afternoon club, organized in 1904 and incorporated in 1908, and today one of the strongest units in county and state club activities.

In commemoration of her birthday party January 9, 1898, Mrs. Parker yesterday presented the club with an artistic silver jardiniere containing twenty-five shining new silver dollars.

Draws Record Crowd

The program announced for the meeting yesterday attracted a record crowd of club members and guests and long ere the hour of community singing led by Hugo Kirchhofer was over, every seat in the temple auditorium was taken and with the opening of the club session preceding the program many of the women attending had taken seats on the steps and front of the platform.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president, was in charge of the brief club session, featured by the club's adoption of a resolution endorsing the candidacy of Mrs. John C. Urquhart of Los Angeles, for president of the California Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. Urquhart is at present president of the Los Angeles District federation and is being heartily supported for the state presidency by various women's clubs in southern California.

Aid to Building Fund

During this session Mrs. Campbell announced that the club had contributed $5 toward the fund for the peacock float that won first prize for Glendale in the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena on New Year's day.

As is the case at all club gatherings special mention was made

Chief Scout Leader To Receive Welcome

The chief scout executive of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, James E. West, will visit the Pacific coast for the second time in thirteen years, according to word just received at the district scout office from Charles N. Miller, Twelfth Regional Scout executive.

Mr. West will arrive in San Francisco January 27, and will be met by more than 5000 boy scouts of the bay district. At San Francisco he will attend the Twelfth Regional Conference of laymen, where he will meet the presidents of councils, secretaries and members. No scout executives will be permitted at this conference.

Southern California will welcome Mr. West on Thursday, February 1, when his train is scheduled to pull into Los Angeles. That he may be given one of the greatest welcomes on the coast in true Southern California style, a special committee consisting of scout executives, council members, troop committeemen and scoutmasters met this morning at the regional office in Los Angeles to complete all details. The committee of scout executives selected comprise E. B. De Groot, Los Angeles council, chairman; Harold F. Benner, Verdugo Hills district council; Tollman H. Trask, Pasadena council; Donald Monroe, Crescent Bay council, and O. B. Mathews, San Antonio council.

Many Congratulating Rev. Father O'Neill

Rev. Father James S. O'Neill, pastor of the Holy Family parish, is being congratulated by those who have inspected the new Knights of Columbus club house at 330 East Lomita avenue, for having bought the first two $50 bonds sold for its construction.

Rev. Father Patrick Dunne, assistant pastor who arrived in Glendale a short time ago, is much impressed with the achievements of the local parish.

The sixteen years contributed by Father O'Neill in the development of this parish was emphasized by Attorney Joseph Scott of Pasadena at the reception tendered Bishop John Joseph Cantwell.

Return of Troops Protest at France, Belief at Capital

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—In the face of France's great military thrust into the heart of industrial Germany, a move strongly disapproved by the American government, President Harding today ordered the immediate and complete withdrawal of all American troops on the Rhine.

While at the state department, it was said that the administration merely considered that "the time had come" to withdraw the forces, it was clear that the American government was actuated in ordering the withdrawal at this time by the growing seriousness of the European situation, and the summary withdrawal of troops constitutes only a thinly veiled gesture of protest against France's occupation of the Ruhr.

The order for withdrawal went forward to Major-General Henry T. Allen at Coblenz this morning. There is reason to believe that the decision to withdraw was made by President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes following the receipt of reports from Ambassador Myron T. Herrick at Paris, and Colonel R. W. Boyden, an American unofficial observer on the reparations commission, to the effect that nothing could halt the French plans for seizing the Ruhr basin.

Virtually all of the troops now on the Rhine are of the Eighth United States infantry and embrace, in addition to the infantrymen, supporting arms such as cavalry, quartermaster, artillery, tank corps and air service contingents.

Reed Hits Harding

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10.—The administration policy of retaining unofficial observers on the reparations commission was bitterly assailed in the senate today by Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri.

"President Harding in every way is violating the spirit of the law which provides there should be no American representatives on the commission except by special act of congress," declared Reed.

Note to Germany

PARIS, Jan. 10.—France and Belgium sent a joint note to Germany late this afternoon announcing their intention of sending engineers into the Ruhr to insure the necessary coal deliveries pledged under the treaty of Versailles. They denied that the move contemplates either military or political occupation, and stated that troops would accompany the engineers to protect them.

Germans Protest

ESSEN, Germany, Jan. 10.—Chambers of Commerce in Essen, Mulhein and Obhausen today adopted a resolution declaring that "the occupation of the Ruhr by France violated the Versailles treaty and nullifies all Germany's obligations under the pact." French military officials have requisitioned eight warehouses in Duissburg.

Call to Colors

ATHENS, Jan. 10.—Greek officials announced today that the Turkish governor of Adrianople has issued a proclamation calling to the colors all males in Eastern Thrace between the ages of 18 and 45 for military duty.

An Italian warship frustrated an attempt by the Turks to sow mines off Ismid. A barge laden with Turkish mines was seized.

AMERICAN FORCES TO LEAVE RHINE SECTION; FRANCE MASSES ARMY

Nothing Can Stop Invasion Now, Belief; Italy and Belgium Give Aid

BULLETIN

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—General De Gouette, commander of the French armies in the Rhineland, has been ordered to advance upon Essen and Ruhr at 5 o'clock Thursday morning, said a dispatch from Essen tonight.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Harding today ordered the immediate and complete withdrawal of all United States troops on the Rhine. Practically all of them are of the eighth United States infantry and include supporting forces of cavalry, artillery, tank corps and air service contingents.

The order is taken to indicate that President Harding has received definite information that nothing can stop the invasion of the French forces and the seizure of the Ruhr district.

The removal of the troops meets with approval of Republican and Democratic forces alike. The order does not come as a surprise to the French government, it is said, for President Harding, through Ambassador Herrick, informed Premier Poincare several days ago that the United States intended to get out of Germany.

American troops have been upon European soil since June 26, 1917, when the first contingent, was landed in France after the United States declared war against Germany. War was declared on April 6, 1917. American troops have held part of the Rhineland since shortly after the armistice was signed, November 11, 1918.

The United States gets out of Europe at a cost of about $250,000,000, that sum representing the American bill against Germany for the cost of occupation.

Port Not Chosen

The transport St. Mihiel, which will bring the American army back to the United States, will sail for Antwerp, or Bremen, arriving there in eight or nine days, according to war department officials.

Decision as to whether to use Antwerp or Bremen as a point of exit was finally referred to General Allen at Coblenz. He was instructed to advise Washington immediately as to which port would be "most desirable" and officials said his recommendations would be accepted.

For the Americans to use Antwerp would necessitate their evacuation through not only Belgian, but also French occupied territory and with the state of affairs as it is now, officials foresaw a possibility of "unpleasant incidents" arising between the in-going French and the out-going Americans."

Harding Recalls All U. S. Troops From Rhine

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — President Harding has ordered all American troops withdrawn from the Rhineland, it was announced at the state department today.

Secretary of War Weeks has been instructed by the president, it was said at the state department, to immediately issue orders to make Major-General Henry T. Allen, commanding the American army of occupation in Germany, to prepare for the evacuation.

Orders for the withdrawal of the troops followed the receipt of Secretary of State Hughes of a lengthy report from Roland W. Boyden, the American representative on the reparations commission, on the French plans for the occupation of the Ruhr district to compel German indemnity payments.

Immediately upon announcement of the American withdrawal, reports became current in Washington that British troops also would be withdrawn. These reports could not be confirmed here, the British embassy disclaiming any knowledge of the matter.

American officials, however, would not be surprised if the British likewise express their disapproval of France's policy by evacuating the Rhineland within a short time.

LICENSE GRANTED MAN TO SHOOT SMALL RIFLE

J. B. Carr Issued Novel Request; Guards Fruits From Linnets

J. B. Carr of 155 North Castle, Eagle Rock, has been given permission by the city officials to fire a .22 rifle on his property in defense of his fruit and flowers. Mr. Carr has been granted a license for the purpose for some years.

It appears he is troubled greatly by the ravages of linnets and has found this a very effective way to protect the fruit and growing plants on his property.

Mr. Carr's license was issued Tuesday by the city clerk.

Change Street Name

A request was made to the board of trustees of Eagle Rock at the last meeting, in the nature of a petition signed by many residents of the district affected, to change the name of that portion of Eagle avenue lying north of Sycamore street to Packard.

The board was agreeable to the proposed change and instructed City Attorney McNitt to draw a resolution to that effect and prepare an ordinance that would meet with the requirements. This will probably be presented at the next meeting.

The reason given for the desired change of names is due to the fact that there are too many avenues of that name, and it would simplify matters and things by calling the portions outlined, Packard.

Mrs. Lillian Empey To Visit Legislature

Mrs. Lillian Empey, of 444 West Milford street, will attend the session of the state legislature in Sacramento next week, when the "Community Property Bill" comes up. This bill was defeated when brought up a year ago but Mrs. Empey is among those who hope it will pass at the present session. She said today:

"Should this bill pass, it will give to every married woman in the state the right to will her half of the community property independently of her husband. Whereas under the present law, upon a wife's death, her husband becomes sole owner of such community property.

"It can readily be seen that passage of such a bill would materially alter existing inheritance customs."

Mrs. Lydia Rehberg Opens Realty Office

Glendale friends of Mrs. Lydia Rehberg will be interested to learn that she has forsaken dressmaking for the realty business, having sold her Bettermade Gown shop at 223 East Broadway to Mrs. A. G. Mrs. Olisher will have as her assistant, Mrs. W. Weise, designer, fitter and expert tailoress. Mrs. Rehberg will conduct her realty business in the same building on East Broadway.

Wagon Pole Plunges Into Auto; None Hurt

A pole on a wagon was jammed into the rear window of an automobile about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon but none of the occupants of the machine were injured.

"I was standing still at the corner of Brand boulevard and Seneca street to let traffic go south on Brand," remarked Fred C. Jaegle of 987 South Hobart street, Los Angeles, driver of the machine. He was accompanied by his wife, and Miss E. May and F. May, all of Los Angeles.

The dirt wagon was driven by J. Codola, an employe of Peter L. Ferry of 614 East Acacia avenue.

COMMUNITY SINGING

Hugo Kirchoffer will lead the community singing at the evening services of the First Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Kenwood and Wilson, 7:30 o'clock Sunday, January 14, announces Rev. H. I. Rasmus, Jr. Mr. Kirchoffer gained quite a reputation as a song leader during the war and a fine "sing" Sunday evening is assured.

HARDING ORDER TO TROOPS IN GERMANY PROTEST TO FRANCE

President Takes Action Because There Is No Chance to Halt Invasion, Belief

Americans would be brought out of Europe via Antwerp, a Belgian port, the war department later announced that Bremen, a German port, also is being considered.

Belgium is co-operating with France in her thrust into the Ruhr, and the question apparently was raised by administration officials as to whether it would be advisable to bring the troops out through Belgian terrtiory. A decision will be made during the day.

The transport St. Mihiel, which will bring the American army back to the United States, will sail for Antwerp, arriving there in eight or nine days, according to war department officials.

The orders of Secretary of War Weeks to General Allen instructed the latter to have his forces at Antwerp when the transport arrived, ready to go aboard, indicating that the American withdrawal is to be accomplished with all possible speed. The trip from Coblenz to Antwerp will be made by rail.

Few Will Remain

A few officers and enlisted men will remain at Coblenz to clean up odds and ends of military and other official business, but the American flag will be struck from the Rhine. It is presumed here that the territory occupied by General Allen's forces will be taken over immediately by the French.

The homecoming Americans will be landed at three American ports, the St. Mihiel putting in first at Savannah, then Charleston, S. C., and finally at New York. From these three disembarkation centers, the troops will be distributed through the various army corps areas, from Texas to Boston.

The order for American withdrawal will not come as a surprise to the French government, it was said here today, as Ambassador Herrick informed Premier Poincare some days ago that America would get out of the Rhine. Apparently the French government weighed the matter and then decided that, much as it desired the presence of American troops, it desired the rich Ruhr coal fields more.

Greeted With Approval

News of the American withdrawal was greeted with undisguised approval in the senate, where recently a resolution was passed virtually requesting the administration to bring the troops home.

"Fine!" said Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, of California. "It should have been done long ago."

"It's a wise decision," declared Senator McCormick, Republican of Illinois. "I believe it should have been done long ago."

"It's an excellent move," was the comment of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate foreign reltions committee.

Democrats as well as Republicans approved the move.

The United States gets out of Europe at a cost of about $250,000,000, that sum representing the American bill against Germany for the cost of occupation.

French Express Regret At Withdrawal of Yankees

PARIS, Jan. 10.—Regret was expressed at the foreign office this afternoon over the action of President Harding in ordering the American army of occupation home from the Rhine. The foreign office received its first news of President Harding's decision from International News Service. Up to 5 o'clock no official word had been received on the subject.

A high official of the foreign office said:

"We regret to see our companions in arms withdrawn but we understand it is not to be interpreted as directed against France, but in fulfillment of the American senate's wishes."

Italy will send mining engineers into the Ruhr basin with French troops to control the share of reparations coal alloted to this country, it was announced this afternoon in a dispatch from Rome.

Information is to the effect that nine French troop trains, averaging sixty cars each, rolled through Coblenz today bound for the "front."

Some were going to Dusseldorf, where General De Goutte and General Berthelot have established headquarters.

Belgian troops were being concentrated along the German frontier at Aachen and Duisburg to assist the French in the seizure of the Ruhr. Belgium will furnish at least 4,000 soldiers, it was officially stated to International News Service. They are expected to march into Germany Thursday.

French Cabinet Awaits Word From Hugo Stinnes

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

PARIS, Jan. 10.—France and Belgium will notify Germany during the afternoon of their intention to occupy the Ruhr tonight or tomorrow morning, said an official statement issued at 1 o'clock.

While rushing military preparations for occupation of the Ruhr coal fields, the French cabinet has been eagerly awaiting proposals from the great German Rhineland industrialists headed by Hugo Stinnes, which would make such action unnecessary, it was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

Members of the cabinet are said to be discouraged that such intervention has not been forthcoming, and are blaming Great Britain and the United States for giving "moral encouragement" to the Germans.

Accuses England

The semi-official newspaper Temps bitterly accuses England of advising the Germans not to make any counter proposals, but to "sit tight."

Premier Poincare delayed for twenty-four hours his notification to Berlin of the measures France intends to take and then, with the excuse that Berlin should have time to apprise the local Ruhr authorities, he added a few more hours' delay. This time, it is believed, was to give the Krupp, Stinnes, Thyssen and Haniel interests time to make a proposition to save their properties.

It is authoritatively learned the French are willing to consider last minute guarantees from the German industrialists if they will withdraw the billions of marks which the French think they have hidden in neutral banks and enter into an agreement embodying following terms:

First—Germans to cease boycotting Lorraine iron.
Second—Cease buying iron ore from Sweden.
Third—Promise to come to a business agreement with the French steel industry.
Fourth—Promise to assist in stabilization of the mark.

The French cabinet is convinced that the German industrialists are capable of doing all these things.

Huge Force Now Being Massed In North Sector

ESSEN, Jan. 10.—Fifty thousand French troops are being massed in the northern sector of the allied occupation zone for seizure of the Ruhr coal fields and industrial cities, according to information received here today. Forty-nine troop trains have now reached the border of the occupation area, of which forty have been unloaded.

French army officers have arrived in Essen to arrange for buildings in which troops will be billeted. They will present list to the burgomaster as to the number of quarters that would be required.

French military and mining supplies are being massed at Kottwig, seven miles from Essen, which was reached by the French advance guard yesterday.

Municipal authorities already have begun to requisition buildings for barracks uses.

Headquarters of the great German coal syndicate in which Hugo Stinnes is a dominant figure, are being removed from Essen.

Officials of the Krupp works, formerly the chief source of Germany's war supplies, announced they would attempt to continue to work undisturbed. The statement added:

"This decision is taken not for the sake of the French, but because 50,000 German workers depend upon the Krupps for their daily bread."

Streets of Dusseldorf Swarm With French Troops

DUSSELDORF, Jan. 10. — France's army of invasion was held in readiness here today for marching orders from Paris. Members of the French general staff said they expected the advance on Essen to be undertaken either tomorrow morning or Friday. Some days may elapse before the Ruhr is entered.

The streets swarm with French troops. The hotels are crowded with officers. Military motor cars dash in and out of the city. All trains are late owing to heavy traffic and the extra number of cars hauled to accommodate the large number of troops.

All along the frontier of the occupied zone French soldiers are establishing bivouacs. Arms and munitions depots are being set up. Baby tanks crawl along the muddy roads with machine guns poked from the port holes.

French military authorities have forbidden all traffic of the Dusseldorf-Essen road except what is permitted for military uses.

The superintendent of the Elberfeld railroad has been ordered to stop all freight trains except those bearing food.

Girl Reveals Story Of Exile by Mob

BASTROP, La., Jan. 10.—A tragic tale of exile by order of the Ku Klux Klan was revealed on the witness stand here today by Miss Addie May Hamilton, 17-year-old girl, and the "woman in the case" of the Morehouse parish "hooded mob" murders.

Baring her life story to a crowded court room, the girl told how the klan had sat in judgment of her moral conduct and sent a masked band to plunge her into a lonely exile as punishment.

Miss Hamilton positively identified as the leader of her kidnapers Dr. Bunne M. McKoin, now under bail, as the alleged leader of the "hooded mob" which brutally murdered Watt Daniel and Thomas Richards here last August.

ATTEMPT AT MURDER

LAUSANNE, Jan. 10.—Abdul Hamid, Egyptian wrestler, made an unsuccessful attempt today to kill Mohemmed Fami, the Egyptian delegate to the Near East peace conference.

RESIDENTS WANT CITY ORDINANCE AMENDED

Petition Presented Trustees to Regulate Keeping of 'Yard' Animals

Mrs. M. J. Kirkse of Fairmont avenue presented a petition to the Eagle Rock board of trustees Monday night asking that the ordinance now in effect in the city regulating the keeping of cows, horses, other live stock and chickens be so amended that persons in the city would be required to keep their stock at least 100 feet from any residence. The ordinance in effect specifies that a distance of fifty feet be maintained.

The petition was signed by a number of residents of that section, eight or ten signers being on hand to ascertain the attitude of the trustees.

Mrs. Kirkse stated that she had recently painted her home and that the flies drawn by the alleged nuisance were ruining the building. She also stated the odors from the nearby corrals were not of an edifying nature; were, in fact, very repulsive to herself and neighbors. She asked the board to take immediate action in the matter.

The contentions of the petitioner were strongly backed up by several others in the audience. Attorney A. G. Riley of 550 East Colorado boulevard substantiated her statements and said that the city owed its citizens this recognition; that Eagle Rock was no longer in the frontier class, but was rapidly putting on cosmopolitan "airs" and should live up to this latter departure by protecting those who were making large investments in city property and attempting to improve their homes.

Subject Was Timely

Mayor Osborne stated this to be an opportune time to broach the subject of flies, as the council chamber was full of them at the time. He was of the opinion, however, that others should be given an opportunity to state their side of the case. He said that while the city officials were anxious to aid in every way and give every encouragement to those who were building and maintaining beautiful homes, they must tread carefully in such matters so there would be no injustice done. He stated that if a nuisance was being maintained at the address given it could be abated, but believed that the board of trustees should give the question serious thought.

Other members of the board concurred in the opinion of the mayor, with the result that the subject was carried over for future consideration by that body.

It is expected that others will be heard on the subject at the next regular meeting.

Oakmont Club Names Board of Directors

The Oakmont Country Club of Glendale announces its board of directors for 1923: A. L. Baird, Dan Campbell, Harry Hall, Jack Huntley, Roy Kent, S. B. Morse, Dr. E. H. Parker, H. M. Parker, H. S. Webb.

With these business and professional men at the head of the organization, the work of construction and operation will be handled so that in a short time Glendale's golf club will be on a par with the best in southern California, it is declared.

Bonds to cover the payments on the land purchased and also to be used in construction work are being issued and of a total of seventy-five authorized, twenty have already been subscribed.

Plans were submitted for the clubhouse, but were put over till next meeting to enable local architects to submit designs.

Glendale 'Hi' Wins Basketball Match

Glendale Union High school's light-weight basketball team yesterday afternoon defeated Covina's light-weight team by a score of 16 to 6.

The game was called at 3:30 p. m., and was half over before school was out at 4:20. This circumstance prevented a larger attendance.

The following players participated in the game: John Lovell, Read Stearman, Archie Neel, Elmer Muff, Lyle McAllister, Lynn Martinez, Ernest Swaney, Leland Anderson, Mosuri Horii and Ivan Dow.

Covina and Glendale will clash in a heavy-weight game Friday afternoon at Covina.

Furniture Firm's Ad Given Explanation

In compiling the advertisement in Tuesday's Glendale Evening News of the Grossman-Miller Furniture Co., located at North Brand and California, a chiffonier was substituted instead of a rocker in the itemized description of a six-room bedroom suite advertised for $94.75.

Grossman-Miller report that the success of this firm's January Clearance Sale is exceeding all expectations and it is asserted that the values are unusual.

Nervous Stomach CAUSES GAS

Gas in the stomach and bowels doesn't always result from dyspepsia, improper diet or the fermentation of food. In most cases it is due to a highly sensitive condition of the stomach nerves.

To get rid of the trouble, you must build up and strengthen these weak, irritated nerves of the stomach. Taking artificial digesters, such as pepsin or bismuth, only makes the stomach weaker than ever. It is like using dope to deaden a pain—the relief given is deceptive and harmful.

Baalmann's Gas Tablets act directly upon the affected nerves and gradually assist in restoring them to their natural, healthy state. Gas and bloating will quickly disappear, and you will no longer be bothered with pain around your heart, palpitation, shortness of breath, gnawing at the pit of the stomach or distress after eating, due to gas. Ask for Baalmann's Gas Tablets in the famous yellow package. Price $1. Sold by Roberts & Echols, J. Baalmann, Chemist, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

WEEKLY MEET IS HELD BY C. OF C.

Directors Discuss Routine Business; Announce Ten New Members

The directorate of the Chamber of Commerce held its regular weekly luncheon yesterday in the chamber's assembly room. Jesse E. Smith, president of the organization, presided.

The business period was confined to discussion of routine business. Representatives of ten local commercial firms were voted into the organization.

V. M. Hollister, president of the Community Service, told the directors that his organization needed office space. He said that if the directors saw fit to grant the Community Service desk room in the Chamber of Commerce offices, his organization would turn over $500 to the chamber for the services of one stenographer, who would be required to answer telephone calls, etc.

The matter was put before the directors in the form of a resolution and was unanimously passed. It was the sense of the directors that the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Service could work together most harmoniously.

Name Representatives

President Smith announced that George Karr, William C. Page, and C. H. Kirkman had been selected to represent the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at the meeting to be held this month by the associated chambers of commerce of San Fernando Valley.

A communication from the Astoria, Ore., Chamber of Commerce, asking that the local chairman petition its Washington representatives to urge an appropriation for devastated Astoria, was read by President Smith. The directors voted to send a petition to Washington.

New Members

The new members voted into the organization, follow:

Barnett System of Growing Hair, 221-A W. Broadway; Bear Bros., 220 North Central; Glendale Motor Bus Company, 1237 South Central; G. N. Goodale, 212 South Brand boulevard; R. H. Lyman, 301 East Broadway; W. R. Naylor Motor Company, 120 South Maryland; Claude G. Putnam, 424 North Glendale avenue, Glendale; A. G. Spohr, Brand & Broadway; O. E. Von Oven, 110 West Broadway; and Higgins-Huyck Company, 1012 South San Fernando.

U. S. FORCES HATE TO LEAVE RHINE

Deep Gloom Prevails Over Report That They Must Depart Germany

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT.
For International News Service.
Copyright, 1923, International News

COBLENZ, Jan. 10.—A long conference of officers of the United States army of occupation, presided over by General Henry T. Allen, led to a report that orders had been received regarding withdrawal of the American forces.

Underneath the Stars and Stripes that float over the mighty mountain fortress of Ehhrenbreitstein, above Coblenz, there is deep gloom.

Most of the officers do not like to leave the Rhine, which has become very homelike to them.

Husky doughboys, off duty, strolled through the streets of this city Sunday night with tearful frauleins clutching their arms and demanding to know if it was true that the Americans are to go. Americans are very popular with the frauleins, which has been proved by the number of marriages since the Yanks settled down here to hold this bridgehead position.

Cause of Comment

There has been a great buzzing of rumors for twenty-four hours concerning the future movements of the Americans. A majority of the officers and men firmly believe the Americans will begin leaving for home as soon as the French advance into the Ruhr starts.

Following the officers' council, General Allen was asked if the deliberations referred to homeward orders or the French plans for taking over American positions. He preserved a discreet silence.

Local German officials expressed regret over the move in the American senate to take the American troops home. They feel the Americans serve as a brake upon French plans for French annexation of the Rhineland. They believe if the Americans are withdrawn the French will feel free from all restraining influence.

Belgian Premier In League With France

BRUSSELS, Jan. 10.—Premier Theunis charged Germany with "bad faith in acts of sabotage and fraudulent bankruptcy" in a speech to the chamber of deputies this afternoon and announced that Belgium would "march side by side with France" into the Ruhr.

"We are compelled to take that action since other means of making Germany live up to her obligations have failed," the Belgian premier declared.

Correct this sentence: "The man obtained a civil service job and was beyond the reach of politicians."

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

TOO ANXIOUS TO BE GOOD

Is a New England conscience a good thing?

Is it possible to try too hard to be good?

Once upon a time I should have answered unhesitatingly "Yes" to the first and "No" to the second question.

I am not so sure now. That is one of the sad things that happen to us as we grow older,—that we cease to be so sure about a great many things. Or is it so sad? You see, I am not even sure about that.

Someone (I think it was either a person who had been trying to step on his own New England conscience, or a person who was married to a New England conscience) has perpetrated this excellent description of the effects of possessing one of these organs.

Keeps You from Enjoying

"A New England conscience doesn't keep you from doing what you think is wrong; it simply keeps you from enjoying it while you are doing it."

And Agnes Repplier gives another sidelight on this state of mind (of course a New England conscience can exist anywhere in the world, I suppose "New England" is used to describe them because they are supposed to be commonest there) when she tells about the man who said he never wanted to do anything that he didn't find it was unwholesome, immoral or too expensive.

But the best thing I have ever seen on the New England conscience I have read recently in a book on nerves by Austen Fog Riggs. After warning against hurry, worry, shilly shallying, and all other common causes and symptoms of nervous troubles, he comes out with the following less common but very thought-provoking warning:

Take Your Own Decency for Granted

"Shun the New England conscience. It is a form of egotism which makes a moral issue out of every trivial thought or feeling. Its motive is self-defense, defense of self from the possibility of guilt or consciousness of moral error. It takes the adventure out of life and fills it with endless, petty, safety first devices, clogging its machinery and warping it out of true. To live fully and with reasonable case one must take one's own fundamental decency more or less for granted and be willing to take at least ordinary chances of being wrong. Soul harrowing analysis to prove one's moral impeccability are merely expressions of nothing better than worry about self."

Worry About Moral Health

Have you a New England conscience or any tendency that way?

If you have, I suggest you clip out that paragraph and keep it to read over once in awhile.

Especially the part about fundamental decency.

We all know how people who worry about their health make themselves unhappy and taint the lives of those about them.

It is a less familiar thought that worry about moral health may have the same effect.

But one emphatically worth considering, I should say.

FRENCH TOAST: Slice white bread in nice even slices and dip them in beaten egg, which has been diluted with a little water or milk. Drain and saute in hot butter. Serve hot with powdered sugar or syrup.

COD FISH BALLS: Mash one cup of cold boiled fish, add two cups of mashed potatoes two well beaten eggs and two tablespoons melted butter. Roll into balls and fry in deep hot fat or saute' them in hot fat.

COCOANUT COOKIES: Cream one cup of butter (or other fat) add two cups of sugar and beat them well together; add two eggs well beaten, one cup of grated cocoanut and one teaspoon of vanilla extract. Sift one cup of flour with one teaspoon baking powder and stir into first mixture; adding enough more flour to roll out. Bake in quick oven until a delicate brown.

TOMATO JELLY MOLD: Cook one pint of tomatoes with one slice of onion, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, 20 minutes; strain, add two tablespoons gelatine which has been softened in one-fourth cup of cold water. Stir until gelatine is dissolved and pour into small molds or cups. Serve jelly mold in center of small plate and place a spoonful of Russian dressing on top.

RUSSIAN DRESSING: Mix three tablespoons Mayonnaise dressing with one tablespoon chili sauce, one chopped pimiento, one tablespoon finely chopped onion, one teaspoon vinegar and one-fourth teaspoon each of salt, mustard and paprika.

BROILED FISH: Clean and wipe fish as dry as possible, sprinkle with salt and pepper and place on a well-greased broiler. Whole fish should be broiled first on flesh side, then turned and broiled on skin side long enough to brown and crisp skin. Slices of fish should be turned often during broiling. Remove to hot serving dish, spread with softened butter, and garnish with parsley and lemon.

COLD SLAW DRESSING: Beat two eggs with one-third cup of sugar; add one cup of milk in which has been dissolved one tablespoon cornstarch. Cook in double boiler until mixture thickens, then add one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons melted butter, a dash of cayenne pepper and lastly one-half cup of hot vinegar. Cool and pour over finely shredded cabbage.

ALMOND PUDDING: Cream four tablespoons butter, add one-third cup sugar gradually, one-half cup molasses, and two eggs well beaten. Mix and sift one and one-half cups flour, one-half teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon salt and add alternately with one-half cup milk to first mixture, then add three-fourths cup almonds blanched and roasted and finely chopped. Turn into a buttered mold and steam two and one-half hours, never allowing the water to go below the boiling point. Serve with whipped cream, or any preferred sauce.

Postoffice Cashing War Savings Stamps

Glendalians are cashing their war savings stamps, 1918 series, at the rate of $4000 per day, according to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson. The rush has been so great that the available money on hand at the postoffice has greatly diminished, he said.

In order to facilitate matters, Postmaster Jackson requests that people who have war savings stamps registered at another postoffice postpone cashing same at the local station for another ten days, as the forms used in these transactions have run out.

The rush to cash the 1918 stamps is brought about by the fact that the coupons are now at their par value, $5. During the war the war savings stamps were distributed for $4.12 and $4.25.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

DARKENING EYELASHES

The trouble with most eyelashes is not that they are too short or too thin, but that the color does not extend far enough down the individual hairs.

If you think that you have been slighted by nature in this matter take up a hand mirror and examine your eyelashes closely. You'll find that each hair grows quite a fair fraction of an inch beyond the point where the color stops. So what you need is, temporarily, an artificial color, and for inky-looking fluid, which should be shaken up a bit first and then applied to the lashes with a camel's hair brush—a fine, small one sold in artist's supply stores. It is quite harmless, all it does is to make the lashes very dark. If any gets on the skin, it can be washed off, and all the stain can be washed off when the face is bathed. It's not noticeable, like an eyebrow pencil, and a little easier to handle.

Here's a harmless stain

Here's something to make them long and thick:

Cocoa butter	1 drachm
Parawan	4 drachms
Lanoline	½ drachm
Oil of sweet almonds	4 drachms
Rose oil (or any perfume)	2 drops

This is very nourishing, very thick, and sometimes must be warmed a bit before it will rub in well.

It can be used on the eyebrows, too, if you wish.

Eleanore A. T.—In a well proportioned figure, the bust measure and that of the hips will be about the same, with ten inches less for the waist measure. This will not apply to young girls who are just maturing, for they frequently have either too little or too much development of the bust. This condition is usually but a temporary phase in their growth and a few more years find them in correct proportions.

John Frederick—Stuttering is sometimes cured by a course in electrocution—if not an actual cure it will be somewhat relieved. If this does not help you, consult a specialist. It is possible now to cure almost any case of stuttering with very little expense and treatment.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

CHILBLAIN

Getting cold feet has long been an expression, usually of opprobrium, applied to persons who apparently endorse a course of action you favor, and then become skeptical and back out. Getting cold feet in this psychic sense may be uncomfortable, but compared to getting cold feet in the physical sense, especially if the c. f. are accompanied by chilbain, is a trifle if I can believe the reports and pleas for advice on the subject I am receiving. Hence this article.

Chilblain or frost bite—Dermatitis Cengelationis—is the result of severe cold on portions of the skin. Usually on the feet, hands or face, after exposure there will appear patches which are cool to the touch but are accompanied with a sense of burning, smarting and itching both while forming and after the parts are warm. To those predisposed to chilblain sometimes very moderately cool temperature is sufficient to produce them. After longer exposure to the cold sometimes blisters and secondary inflammations, even to gangrene, have been known to develop.

It is usually found that persons who suffer from this condition are anemic and their circulation is poor. There is this reaction in the tissues because the cold has interfered with the circulation so much that it does not get its nourishment. As in other skin disorders which are local manifestations of general under-parness of the system, obviously the thing to do is to take measures to get to par in health.

I have told you that persons who suffer from this condition usually are anemic and have poor circulation. Of course those in perfect health may be so affected if they are exposed too long to severe cold.

The treatment. If there is general anemia you must find the cause of the anemia and get rid of that. It may be—and often is—due to undernourishment. It may be due to a chronic poisoning from some infected points in the body. It may be due to other unhygienic habits. If you are undernourished you can have our article on gaining by sending in the usual way. You may suffer from poor circulation and overweight, too.

For the local treatment the best preventative is the wearing of woolen coverings on the hands and feet, and ears if necessary. Gentle friction should be used on the parts to bring the blood to them. Sometimes stimulating ointments containing camphor, iodine, ichthyol or carbolic acid, may be used.

In severe cases of frost bite it is necesssary not to allow the parts to become warm too rapidly. The custom of rubbing them with snow as is done in the steppes of Russia, where these accidents are frequent, is said to bring good results.

It is said that long perseverance in this course is often rewarded with success in apparently desperate cases. If there is blistering and ulcerations, then antiseptic dressings are indicated.

If you suffer too much from chilblain why not move to Southern California? Here is a boost for my home place that I hope won't be overlooked by our Chamber of Commerce. It truly is a fact that sometimes people are bothered so much from chilblains that it is advisable for them to go to a warmer climate. So, if after getting yourself in the best of physical condition you still suffer, come on out, the climate's fine.

Man Murders Wife and Cremates Body

SALINA, KAN., Jan. 10—Shortly after he had snuffed out the life of his wife with a high powered rifle, Lee Parks, 40, today cremated her remains on a funeral pyre, which he had hastily constructed near here. Holding his infant son in a tight embrace, Parks stood by until the human embers had burned away.

The father then took his child to the home of a neighbor and after admonishing the woman to "take good care of my baby," departed. Returning to the scene of the tragedy, Parks turned the gun on himself, dying instantly.

Glendale Theatre Showing New Film

"Enter Madame," the Metro photoplay version of the great New York play triumph by that name, is the feature at the Glendale Theatre today. The star is Clara Kimball Young.

A fittingly sumptuous production has been given this story, which concerns that part of the life of the grand opera singer which follows her discovery that her husband, whom she loves for all his neglect, is desirous of divorcing her. Elliott Dexter plays the role of the neglected woman and Louise Dresser that of the "other woman."

Harry Garson produced "Enter Madame" and Wallace Worsley directed it.

Alfred Cookman to Hold 'Nature Walk'

Alfred Cookman, of 336 Pioneer drive, professor of biology in the Los Angeles Polytechnic high school, will conduct the "Nature Walk" from the Hotel Coronado, San Diego, Sunday morning, January 14. The walk will lead along the beach, where numerous marine denizens will be pointed out and discussed informally.

In the afternoon, Professor Cookman will lecture at the Balboa Exposition Park museum on the subject "Our Keenest Birds of Prey."

Some states are legislating against the road hog. This will do much to popularize "pork" legislation.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—Ten students of the college of law at the University of Southern California were dismissed today because of poor scholarship and failure to live up to the standard required by the school, and approximately twenty others were put on probation for varying terms, following the wielding of the faculty axe at the institution.

It was also announced today that beginning in 1924 the law course will be increased and will require six years in which to be completed instead of four years.

H. S. Webb to Establish New York Agency for Glendale Store

H. S. Webb, of 303 North Louise street, left this morning for the east where he will establish a New York office for the H. S. Webb Dry Goods company.

"We are the home pioneer store," remarked Mr. Webb, commenting on his establishment at 103 South Brand boulevard. "We are in the hearts of the people and we want to stay there."

Although the H. S. Webb company has been in touch with the best ready-to-wear and import houses in the country, Mr. Webb believes that the business of this store has now expanded to a point where the services of a resident buyer in New York City are required. He expects to make a contract with a chain of dry goods stores so as to benefit by its immense purchasing power.

This action, according to Mr. Webb, is in anticipation to the construction and opening of his new store.

Have Up-to-date Store

"This will be thoroughly modern and up-to-date in every way," asserted Mr. Webb. "It will have added departments and will carry a larger stock. It will endeavor to keep up with the demands and growth of Glendale."

Mr. Webb expects to be absent about three weeks. He left via the Southern Pacific for New Orleans. From there he will go up the Atlantic Cost line to New York City. Before returning he expects to visit cotton mills at Spray, N. C., and woolen and silk mills in New England. He will also visit several of the eastern markets.

"I am going to make a survey of manufacturing centers to strengthen our stock for the convenience of Glendale buyers," he stated. "We are operating in a big way now. Our new resident buyer will keep in touch with market conditions at all times in order to give Glendale the very best that the market affords."

Harding In Doubt About British Debt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — President Harding is convinced that no settlement of the $5,000,000,000 British debt is possible within the limitations now imposed by congress, it was announced at the White House, and consequently the administration will go to congress and request sanction for whatever agreement is ultimately effected in the present negotiations.

MARION DAVIES WHO APPEARS IN "WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER" At the T. D. & L. Today and Tomorrow

"When Knighthood Was in Flower," the extraordinary Paramount picture, now showing at the T. D. & L. Theatre, opened yesterday to capacity business and has been acclaimed by all those who have seen it—"a truly wonderful picture"—the most dazzling, gorgeous and beautiful thing ever attempted in motion pictures.

Its unfolding depicts the pages of history and is in itself an education as well as a most delightful entertainment. Do not miss "When Knighthood Was in Flower"—if it's the last thing you do. It is worth all and more than the admission charged—ask any of the 2000 Glendalians who saw it at the T. D. & L. yesterday. It will be continued again today and tomorrow only.

Tonight, at 8:30 o'clock, the members of the Shrine Club of Glendale will attend in a body. It will be a very jovial and happy occasion with several special features, participated in by the boys of the fez caps themselves, in addition to the featured attraction.

Special prices for this tremendous film are placed at: Matinees, general admission 55c and 28c (children under 12) tax included. Loges 83c (tax included). Night prices are, general admission 83c and 28c (children under 12) tax included. Loges at $1.10, including tax. Remember today and tomorrow only remain to see this picture of all pictures. Performances last two and one-half hours, starting promptly at 1, 3:30, 6 and 8:30 p. m.

Harding 'Harsh and Cruel,' Says Senator

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — While describing President Harding's veto of his bill increasing pensions to veterans of the Civil, Mexican and Indian wars as "harsh and cruel," Senator Bursum, Republican of New Mexico, in the senate, definitely declared he would not seek to pass the measure over the executive rejection.

"I do not intend to attempt its passage over the President's veto; such a course would not result in any accomplishments," said Bursum.

Capper Asserts U. S. Should Help Europe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — Strongly urging that something must be done soon by this country to help Europe get on her feet, Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, declared in the senate a world economic conference such as was recently proposed by Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, is of vital importance not only to the welfare of European peoples but to that of the American people.

MORELAND TRUCK TO PAY DIVIDEND

L. A. Company Cuts 'Melon' February 15; Plan Big Sale in 1923

Directors of the Moreland Truck company announce a special cash dividend on common and preferred, to be paid February 15, 1923, to stockholders of record December 31, 1922. The dividend is only a small part of the company's earnings, accumulated during the latter part of the year, and leaves a substantial balance to be carried to surplus account, according to the report.

The Moreland Motor Truck company is reputed to be one of the substantial industries of Los Angeles. Its average earnings since the beginning of its manufacturing era, in 1912 to 1921, inclusive, were said to have been better than 38 per cent per year.

The company paid no dividends covering the period of 1921 and a part of 1922. The strong position in which it emerged from the depression, its earnings and resumption of dividends, are held by the management to be a source of gratification, not only to the stockholders, but to all friends and exponents of manufacturing in Los Angeles.

"The Moreland company was one of the very few manufacturing plants in the United States able to keep its capital intact during the business slump," the report continues.

"The extreme depression existing in other parts of the United States, the favorable conditions existing in Los Angeles and the consequent widespread 'white spot' advertising received resulted in an abnormal business situation. Large quantities of trucks, made for war purposes, old models, over-production of eastern factories, liquidation of many eastern truck companies, were dumped in California and sold regardless of cost.

Has Good Equipment

"The Moreland Motor Truck company has no heavy commitments of materials, no stock of old model trucks to be forced on the market; it therefore restricted its activities, brought out new models in which were incorporated all proven constructions of the war period, and held production down to the market, awaiting such time as these trucks had been disposed of and the return of normal conditions.

"A normal market began to be established in August, 1922, and since that time the big Moreland plant at Burbank has been increasing production until in December it produced eighty-six trucks. This return of normal conditions now places the company and its many truck users in a position to secure the full benefit of the many advantages of manufacturing in Los Angeles."

W. L. Moreland, vice-president and general manager, is confident that the business world is in the beginning of a new era of prosperity. He is making arrangements to manufacture and dispose of 1200 trucks in 1923.

The Mexican slowly unfolded himself and arose, motioning the strangers to follow him into the interior of the hut. The woman, at a word from her lord and master, followed them, and at his further dictation brought them frijoles and tortillas.

The price he asked was nominal; but his eyes never left Bridge's hands as the latter brought forth the money and handed it over. He appeared just a trifle disappointed when no more money than the stipulated purchase price was revealed to sight.

"Where you going?" he asked.

"We're looking for work," explained Bridge. "We want to get jobs on one of the American ranches or mines."

"You better go back," warned the Mexican. "I, myself, have nothing against the Americans, senor; but there are many of my countrymen who do not like you. The Americans are all leaving. Some already have been killed by bandits. It is not safe to go farther. Pesita's men are all about here. Even Mexicans are not safe from him. No one knows whether he is for Villa or Carranza. If he finds a Villa ranchero, then Pesita cries Viva Carranza! and his men kill and rob. If, on the other hand, a neighbor of the last victim heard of it in time, and later Pesita comes to him, he assures Pesita that he is for Carranza, whereupon Pesita cries Viva Villa, and falls upon the poor unfortunate, who is lucky if he escapes with his life. But Americans! Ah, Pesita asks them no questions. He hates them all, and kills them all, whenever he can lay his hands upon them. He has sworn to rid Mexico of the gringos."

"Wot's the Dago talkin' about?" asked Billy.

Bridge gave his companion a brief synopsis of the Mexican's conversation.

"Only the gentleman is not an Italian, Billy," he concluded. "He is a Mexican."

"Who said he was an Eyetalian?" demanded Byrne.

As the two Americans and the Mexican conversed within the hut there approached across the dusty flat, from the direction of the nearer hills, a party of five horsemen.

They rode rapidly, coming toward the hut from the side which had neither door nor window, so that those within had no warning of their coming. They were swarthy, ragged ruffians, fully armed, and with an equipment which suggested that they might be a part of a quasi-military organization.

Close behind the hut four of them dismounted while the fifth, remaining in his saddle, held the bridle reins of the horses of his companions. The latter crept stealthily around the outside of the building, toward the door—their carbines ready in their hands.

It was one of the little children who first discovered the presence of the newcomers. With a piercing scream she bolted into the interior and ran to cling to her mother's skirts.

Billy, Bridge, and the Mexicans wheeled toward the doorway simultaneously to learn the cause of the girl's fright, and as they did so found themselves covered by four carbines in the hands of as many men.

As his eyes fell upon the faces of the intruders the countenance of the Mexican fell, while his wife dropped to the floor and embraced his knees, weeping.

"Wotinell?" ejaculated Billy Byrne. "What's doin'?"

"We seem to have been made prisoners," suggested Bridge; "but whether by Villistas or Carranzistas I do not know."

Their host understood his words and turned toward the two Americans.

"These are Pesita's men," he said.

"Yes," spoke up one of the bandits, "we are Pesita's men, and Pesita will be delighted, Miguel, to greet you, especially when he sees the sort of company you have been keeping. You know how much Pesita loves the gringos!"

"But this man does not even know us," spoke up Bridge. "We stopped here to get a meal. He never saw us before. We are on our way to the El Orobo Rancho in search of work. We have no money and have broken no laws. Let us go our way in peace. You can gain nothing by detaining us, and as for Miguel here—that is what you called him, I believe—I think from what he said to us that he loves a gringo about as much as your reverend chief seems to."

Miguel looked his appreciation of Bridge's defense of him; but it was evident that he did not expect it to bear fruit. Nor did it. The brigand spokesman only grinned sardonically.

"You may tell all this to Pesita himself, senor," he said. "Now come—get a move on—beat it!" The fellow had once worked in El Paso and took a great pride in his "higher English" education.

As he started to herd them from the hut Billy demurred. He turned toward Bridge.

"Most of this talk gets by me," he said. "I ain't jerry to all the Dago jabber yet, though I've copped off a little of it in the past two weeks. Put me wise to the gink's lay."

"Elementary, Watson, elementary," replied Bridge. "We are captured by bandits, and they are going to take us to their delightful chief who will doubtless have us shot at sunrise."

"Bandits?" snapped Billy, with a sneer. "Youse don't call dese little runts bandits?"

"Baby bandits, Billy, baby bandits," replied Bridge.

"An' you're goin' to stan' fer lettin' 'em pull off this rough stuff without handin' 'em a comeback?" demanded Byrne.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Ellis H. Martin, correspondent at San Francisco, writes of Mrs. Mae Hunt Nolan, wife of late congressman, who probably will be chosen to succeed her husband.

TOMORROW—Harry R. Flory, Chicago correspondent, tells of Chicago's effort to "live down" the world war period "pro-German" stigma.

For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10. — California's first Congresswoman will be a representative of labor.

Mrs. Mae Nolan, widow of Congressman John I. Nolan, will have the united support of Union Labor in her campaign for the seat in the House left vacant by the death of her husband. The present outlook is that on January 23 Mrs. Nolan will be elected both for the unexpired term of her husband and for the new term from the Fifth Congressional District, which takes in part of San Francisco—a labor stronghold. In addition to Mrs. Nolan six male candidates have entered the lists.

Mrs. Nolan will go to Congress with the firm purpose of carrying on the work begun by her husband. Congressman Nolan was one of the foremost spokesmen of Labor at the nation's capitol. He was strongly considered for the post of Secretary of Labor when President Harding was making up his Cabinet. He for years was a high official of the international Molders' Union.

When he died there were five humanitarian measures closest to the heart of the California Congressman.

They were:

A law fixing a minimum of $3 a day for government employes.

The Johnson-Nolan constitutional amendment to end child labor.

An equal wage law for women in the government service.

A law providing for Federal employment agencies to end the mulcting of workers by fee garnering employment agencies.

The soldiers' bonus.

These measures will have Mrs. Nolan's earnest support—their advancement to her a work of love.

Mrs. Nolan is a "home woman." She has never campaigned before. She frankly confessed in discussing the prospects of her election that she was a wee bit frightened at the prospects of public speaking in Congress. But she has no thought of shirking this part of the task.

"I think I shall manage it," she told a newspaperman. "If I am elected I mean to be a real Congresswoman and make speeches the same as other members.

Mrs. Nolan, of course, will have the aid and support of other prominent members of the California delegation in Congress. She has already been assured of this. She hopes also to have the same support and advice from national labor leaders that were always accorded her husband.

"Their legislative committee called every day on Mr. Nolan, and I hope they will be equally active in keeping me posted on what labor wants," she said.

"I know I shall take a real joy in going forward in the labors that my husband started and in doing what I can to complete the work he had started."

"Bridging the Bay" is a perennial topic in San Francisco and the contiguous bay regions. Situated as it is on a peninsula, San Francisco is cut off by water from the rest of California except on one side. "The Chinese Wall" some commentators have called the situation. Daily about one hundred thousand persons cross the bay to Oakland, to Sausalito or Vallejo. It takes time, and it costs money if you have an automobile to go by boat. Hence the universal demand is for the bridging of the bay.

There are almost as many schemes as there are engineers. Some of the greatest engineers in the world have devoted study to the possibilities of bridging the bay. All have agreed upon its feasibility.

Their plans have differed. Some have suggested a tube — others a combined tube and bridge. Eventually there will be not one bridge, but several. One unquestionably will connect San Francisco with Oakland and the great East Bay industrial district. Another will bridge the Golden Gate and open to San Francisco the great Marin county section, which has great possibilities as a home section. A third bridge will cross the Carquinez Straits for railroad traffic. Its completion will end the usefulness of the largest rail ferry system in the world.

The most recently discussed bridge plan is for bridging the Golden Gate. The plans have been drawn by J. B. Strauss, noted bridge architect and engineer. The bridge would be a combination of cantilever and suspension types. It is 6700 feet across Golden Gate. No type heretofore proposed could stand the strain of such a long span. The Strauss plan calls for rigid cantilever structures at each end, which would swing 200 feet above the water, with a main centre span of the unprecedented length of 4000 feet. Of this 2640 feet would be by cable. There would be two shore spans of 1320 feet each. The bridge would be eighty feet in width. The towers for the bridge would be taller than Eiffel Tower and would have elevators for sightseers.

The cost of the proposed bridge is estimated at $20,000,000.

Just now civic authorities are discussing the best means of realizing the designer's dream. Mayor James Rolph, Jr., and other leaders are convinced that a way will be found to finance the project.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND NOODLE'S DOUGHNUT

After Uncle Wiggily had learned to slide on the ice around the Flattail beaver house, as I told you in the story before this one, the old rabbit gentleman went over nearly every day. He told Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy that he was going to see Toodle and Noodle, the beaver boys, or perhaps to call on Grandpa Whackum, the eldest beaver gentleman in all the world.

But I think that Uncle Wiggily just went to slide on the ice, because he found it so much fun. For he had, with the help of Toodle and Noodle, learned to slide without falling forward and bumping his pink twinkling nose, without falling backward and bumping his head, and also without toppling over and sliding sitting down, which is no way at all.

So, as I told you, after Uncle Wiggily had learned over again how to slide (for he had known how when he was a young rabbit, but had forgotten), after that he used to go over to the beaver house nearly every day and cut up funny capers on the ice.

One day, just as Uncle Wiggily reached the beaver house, which, made of sticks, mud and grass, stuck up out of the frozen pond, just as Uncle Wiggily arrived, out through a hole in the ice popped

"You must give me back the hole in it."

Noodle Flattail. Noodle had dived down under the water, where it wasn't frozen, and had come out through an airhole.

Noodle took something out from under his paw, where he had put it to keep dry, and he began eating it as Uncle Wiggily watched him.

"What have you there?" asked the bunny gentleman politely. "Is it a hickorynut, Noodle?"

"No," answered the beaver boy.

"Is it a chestnut?" the bunny gentleman wanted to know.

"Not that, either," chuckled Noodle, "It is a doughnut," and he held up a round, brown cake with a hole in the center. Perhaps you may call these crullers or fried cakes, but Noodle called them doughnuts.

"They are the only kind of nuts we beavers eat," explained the flat-tailed chap. "Our teeth aren't like those of Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels—we can't gnaw through the hard shells of nuts, though we can, and do, gnaw down big trees. So when we want nuts mother makes doughnuts."

"And very, very good they are, too, I should think," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "Of course," he went on, with a twinkle of his nose, "I can't say, for sure, that the doughnuts are good, because——"

"Oh, I know what you mean!" laughed Noodle, as Uncle Wiggily paused in his talk. "You mean you'd like to taste a doughnut yourself and see if they are as good as I say they are. Is that it?"

"Something like that—yes," said the bunny.

"Wait a minute!" cried Noodle, "I'll get you one." Down under the ice, through the hole he jumped, and up into the beaver house. "Mother, I want a doughnut for Uncle Wiggily—he's outside!" said Noodle. "And please don't forget the hole."

"What hole?" asked his mother.

"The hole in the doughnut," laughed Noodle.

"Of course I couldn't forget the hole," said his mother. "You couldn't take the doughnut without the hole." For a doughnut, you know, children, is just a circle of cake fried around a hole, just as a gold ring is made.

Toodle took a doughnut out to Uncle Wiggily and the bunny gentleman and beaver boy were having a little picnic on the ice when, all of a sudden, along came the Woozie Wolf.

"I want ears to nibble!" howled the Woozie Wolf.

Noodle was going to be much frightened, but Uncle Wiggily whispered and said:

"Watch me fool him!" Then the bunny said to the Wolf. "Mr. Wolf, before you nibble any ears just finish my doughnut. Here, eat my doughnut," went on the bunny, holding out the one he had only partly nibbled. "But you must give me back the hole in it," he said.

"All right," agreed the Wolf. "I don't want the hole, anyway. I'll eat the doughnut, but you may have the hole."

"And if you don't give me back the hole you sha'n't nibble my ears or Noodle's!" So the Wolf ate all the doughnut, and then Uncle Wiggily cried in a terrible voice: "WHERE IS THE HOLE?"

And as truly as I'm telling you the Wolf was so frightened at having lost the hole in the doughnut (for, of course, it disappeared when he ate all the brown part), the Wolf was so frightened that he ran scrabbily-abbily all around the ice crying: "Where's the hole?" For he thought he had dropped it. Then Noodle said:

"There's one hole and in it you go," and he pushed the Wolf down a hole in the ice so the bad chap could nibble no ears. Aren't you glad? And if the milk bottle doesn't catch a sneeze waiting on the back steps for the postman, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the cold mouse.

CORD TIP RADIO PLUG

With this new type of plug your telephone receiver cord tips are attached directly to the plug. It is no longer necessary to remove the tips, thereby making them awkward for other uses where a plug is unnecessary. This plug can be used with any standard make of jack. The cord tips slip into the base of the plug, and are held firmly in place by simply tightening two screws, as shown in the illustration of the plug with the sleeve removed.

RADIO EXPLAINED

By LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

SPARK GAPS

When the gap is broken down by the high voltage delivered by the transformer, it becomes a conductor, and readily allows the oscillations of the condenser to pass. This breakdown of the gap is caused by the ionization of the air surrounding the points of the gap; in other words, this air becoming gaseous no longer resists the path of the high frequency voltage and allows the gap to be bridged by the discharge.

This phenomenon of ionization will be dealt with very fully in future articles of this series, in dealing with vacuum tubes. During the interval between discharges, the gap, if properly constructed, cools off and quickly becomes non-conducting again, allowing the condenser to store another charge of energy. If the gap did not resume its non-conducting condition, the condenser would not charge again, since it would be short circuited by the gap, and further oscillations could not be produced. This restoration of the non-conducting state of the gap is called "quenching." A device named the "quenched gap" for the very rapid quenching of the spark is described in the succeeding articles.

What is known as a "plain spark gap" consists of two metal rods so arranged that their distance apart is closely adjustable, as shown in the illustration. It is important that the gap be kept very cool or it will arc; for that reason metal balls are sometimes used on the sparking ends of the rods in order that the sparking surfaces be ample. Sometimes a series of flanges are utilized for the same purpose, and where high power is used a blower is provided to blow the arc out. This system is best as the blast of air removes the ionized air or gas which is present after each gap discharge, and if not removed is the cause of arcing or short circuiting.

One Dead, Ten Hurt In Big Hotel Fire

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 10.—Mrs. T. E. Lehman of Chicago, died of asphyxiation; ten persons were overcome by smoke, and the lives of sixty others were endangered when smoke from a basement fire filled the Lincoln hotel here.

The dead woman's husband and another Chicago couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fallon, attempted to carry her to a stairway, but were themselves overcome by smoke, and, with a score of other guests, were carried out by firemen.

Women and Children Flee Chicago Blaze

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Mothers with their babies were among a score of persons driven by fire today from sixteen apartments in a north side building. Firemen wrapped the infants in blankets in the snow filled streets. Seven persons were carried out from their beds.

Police said a cigaret stub tossed into a dumb waiter shaft kindled the blaze.

The pessimist thinks only of the present and cusses the rain; the optimist thinks of the double-header that will come later.

Three Men Battle With Armed Maniac

OAKLAND, Jan. 10—Grappling with a maniac armed with two revolvers, three men engaged in a death battle on the elevated tracks at the Sixteenth street depot, during which several shots were fired and the madman finally overpowered.

The maniac is William H. Firebaugh, aged 35. He recently was released from the insane asylum. A policeman and two pedestrians disarmed and arrested Firebaugh.

Ohio Company Takes Over Tube Business

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 10.—President James A. Campbell, of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, today officially announced his company had purchased the Steel and Tube company of America, with plants located in Chicago and many other midwest and western cities. This makes the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company the third largest manufacturer of steel in the United States.

CLUB GIRLS PLAN MOUNTAIN CLIMB

Union 'Hi' Athletes Leave on January 20 for Hike to Mt. Wilson

The Girls' Athletic club of the Glendale Union High school has set January 20 and 21 as the time for their two-day hike to Mt. Wilson, where they will visit the Observatory and spend the night at the inn on the summit.

The last monthly hike of this club took place December 28, and had for its objective Orchard's camp, on the west slope of Mt. Wilson. The party expected to enounter snow but met with rain instead. This, however, did not dampen anyone's spirits. A huge fireplace, good "eats," music and dancing made for an agreeable time and the event was voted the most enjoyable one of the year.

The January hike is counted upon to establish a new record for pleasurable outings.

Many People Take Advantage of Offer

The citizens of Glendale stand four square with The Evening News on the question of saving money by paying $5.00 yearly subscriptions — averaging about 42 cents per month as against paying by the month 60 cents, and thereby costing $2.20 per year more than the $5.00 per year plan.

On January 20, the yearly subscription rate will be changed to $6.00, as announced elsewhere in our postponed offer.

Persons who have taken advantage of the $5.00 per year offer since the last list was published January 2 are:

Residence, North Orange, Edward Kretchmer to John Bolen, $11,000.

Residence, 528 Fairmont, L. H. Hart to Mr. Buscili, $6300.

A. Addes, residence, 418 Salem street, to Mr. Charlton, $4200.

Lot, Montrose, C. W. Taylor to L. E. Wakeman of Los Angeles, $1100.

Lease store room, South Brand boulevard, near Park, for three-year term.

L. A. Hart's residence, 301 North Louise street, to O. F. McCargar, $8000.

Cynthia King residence, 326 North Belmont street, to V. Thompson, $3400.

The organization now consists of Frederick C. Page, president; D. W. Stone, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Ward, private secretary, and J. F. Gasser, Fred Madden, L. A. Hart and Sam Farmer, salesmen. The firm's office is centrally located and thoroughly equipped to handle an up-to-date business. It believes in advertising and will give the best of service to those desiring to buy or sell any kind of real estate.

Recital Is Given By Young Musicians

Charles Heustis, and James S. Mullin Jr., were presented in a piano recital Tuesday night by Miss Ada Gies at her home, 823 North Brand boulevard. The event was of special interest to the relatives and friends of the two young musicians as this constituted their first appearance in concert. Miss Gies received many compliments on the progress made by her pupils during the past year.

PUBLIC CARD PARTY

The Arts and Crafts section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will hold a public card party Saturday night, January 13, at the Pearl Keller hall, 109-A North Brand boulevard, the proceeds to go toward completion of the furnishings for the new clubhouse, announces Mrs. Fred Deal, curator of the section. Bridge and five hundred will be played, the games starting at 8:30 o'clock.

OPPOSED TO MASKS

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 10.—Secret and open meetings of masked persons is prohibited and registration of all members of secret organizations is required by a measure introduced in the state legislature today.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Section Meetings

Between the regular meetings of the Tuesday Afternoon club the interest of the majority of the members is taken up with the activities of the various sections. There is a section devoted to the study of the various cultural lines, and this year the varied activities of these sections have been wonderfully developed.

Mrs. W. E. Evans is general curator of the club and at the regular meeting yesterday she announced the following sectional meetings for the remainder of this week and next.

Arts and Crafts No. 2, Thursday, January 11 at 10 o'clock at Pendroy's to take up work on French flowers.

Music section, Friday afternoon, January 12, with Mrs. E. D. Cleophas at 337 North Central avenue; a Russian program will be given.

Shakespeare Section, Monday afternoon, Jnuary 15, with Mrs. W. E. Halstead of West Windsor road; the fourth act of Romeo and Juliet will be studied.

Literary Section, Tuesday afternoon, January 16, with Mrs. A. P. McBoyle, 369 West Milford street; the study subject will be "Egypt" with a special program.

Maids and Young Matrons, on Tuesday afternoon, January 16, with Mrs. E. B. Sutton at 727 East Windsor road.

Arts and Crafts No. 1, Thursday, January 18, 10:30 o'clock, at Pendroy's; polychrome work.

Drama Section, Friday afternoon, January 19, with Mrs. Harry Lockwood, 514 North Orange street; a Moliere play will be taken up.

Bible Section, Monday afternoon, January 22, with Mrs. H. B. Howeth of 329 North Orange

Parliamentary Law and Legislative Sections, Monday afternoon, January 22, with Mrs. J. E. Sargeant at 717 North Louise street, when the "Community Property Act" will be discussed.

Class Election

The I. T. W. class of the First Baptist church met Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Roger Bentley, 715 North Central avenue.

Devotional services were led by Mrs. Elwyn Ostrander after which reports for the month and the year were read. This was followed by the reading of a letter from Mrs. McCrea, the church's missionary in China, thanking the club for their splendid Christmas box.

Annual election of officers was then held, with the following results: Mrs. Jennie Doxsee, teacher; Mrs. Ruth Bentley, president; Mrs. Betsy Abbey, first vice president; Mrs. Maud Van Vormer, second vice president; Mrs. Nellie Hill, secretary; Mrs. Cora Marple, treasurer.

Many kind words of appreciation were spoken to the retiring officers, and the incoming group were greeted with words of encouragement.

Dainty refreshments were then served by the hostesses, Mrs. Robert Ford, Mrs. Roger Bentley and Mrs. Robert Morrow.

To Install Officers

Mrs. Margaret Stoner of Sawtelle, department president of the California and Nevada Daughters of Veterans, is to be installing officer at the installation of officers of the Mary Jane Gillette tent January 23, it was announced last night at the tent meeting in the Legion hall on East Broadway. Mrs. Stoner will be assisted by members of her staff. Mrs. Robert Danner is chairman of the installation plans.

At the meeting last night a plate shower was held and when all the contributions have been received the tent will have three dozen plates to use for serving.

Misses Elsie and Agnes Verity of 511 West Broadway were received into the membership of the tent last night.

Another affair anticipated by the tent is a big benefit dance January 30.

Birthday Luncheon

Mrs. H. P. Goertz of 347 North Central avenue celebrated her fifty-seventh birthday yesterday with an afternoon luncheon and reception, from 5 until 7 o'clock.

The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Franz of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Isaac, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Goertz, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Everett, Mr and Mrs. H. H. Wiebe, and Mrs. J. L. Schowalter of Glendale.

Guild to Meet

Mrs. A. A. Bassett, newly elected president of St. Mark's guild, will preside at her first meeting Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the guild hall.

The parish dinner and social arranged for January 23 has had to be changed to another date and the date is to be discussed and decided on at the guild meeting tomorrow.

Social Session

Thirty business and professional women met at the club house on South Maryland avenue last night for dinner and a business and social session. Dr. Laura Brown, president, was in charge.

Plans were discussed for the social affair of the club Tuesday night, January 23 at the club house.

Last Night's Fights

At New York.—Lou Bogash, Bridgeport, Conn., knocked out Charley Fitzsimmons, New York, in the eleventh round.

At Chicago.—Jack Eile beat Pete Mistel in eight rounds. Rocky Joyce won from Whitey Ross in eight rounds.

Stocks, Markets

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The stock market showed a stronger tone in the last hour of trading today, many issues selling at new high levels for the day. Recessions again occurred in the last few minutes. United States Steel was in fair demand and Baldwin and Studebaker were active and strong.

The railroad list was practically neglected. Many of the specialties had sharp advances.

Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Strength developed late in the grain markets following a dull and rather heavy earlier session. Most of the trade appeared to be in May wheat. Longs showed a tendency to hang on and await developments. Corn was heavy, oats inactive.

20 DAYS' EXTENSION
On account of delay in this office and a delay in the mails it has been impossible during the holiday rush to notify all subscribers as to the date of the expiration of their subscriptions so they might take advantage of the $5.00 per year subscription rate before the price is changed to $6.00 per year, therefore the time for receiving subscriptions at the old rate has been extended to January 20, 1923.

ANNIVERSARY OF CLUB IS ENJOYED

Record Crowd Is Present at Meeting; Program Is Complete Success

of the building fund for the new club home, and Mrs. Campbell again urged members and friends to secure a seat in the new auditorium.

With a view to further augmenting the building fund Mrs. A. H. Montgomery announced that all club members who are not connected with some club section are to meet at 1 o'clock with her on the next regular meeting day to organize a group for working with the ways and means committee.

Section Meetings

By the birthday march conducted yesterday by Mrs. Montgomery $7.11 was added to the building fund.

Mrs. W. E. Evans, club curator, announced the following meeting dates of the club sections: Literary, January 16; Arts and Crafts Number 1, January 18; Maids and Young Matrons; January 16; Bible, January 22; Music, January 12; Arts and Crafts Number 2, January 11; Shakespeare, January 15; Drama, January 19; Paliamentary Law and Legislative, January 22.

Harold Proctor, tenor, and his accompanist, Miss Bertha Just, were the first artists to appear on the afternoon's program. To many of those present Mr. Proctor's pleasing, well-trained voice is familiar as a radio enjoyment, while others have greeted him on the concert stage before, so, when he was presented by Mrs. Campbell, his reception was most gratifying.

Proves Inspiration

The presentation of the beauties of English diction in his singing is the inspiration for all of Mr. Proctor's vocal work and before he gave his group of songs yesterday afternoon he paid fine tribute to the English language and announced that he would sing a group of songs, English and foreign, all in English.

How far he attained his desire yesterday was seen in the hearty applause from his hearers. He sang "Friend o' Mine" (Sanderson); "The Prize Song" from "Die Miestersingers" (Wagner); "Mattinata" (Leoncavallo); "She Is Far from the Land" (Moore-Lambert); "Onaway Awake Beloved" from "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" (Coleridge Taylor); "Macushla" (McMurray). In acknowledgment of the pleasure of his audience Mr. Proctor returned for an encore, singing the beautiful "Evening Song" (Blumenthal).

Both Well Received

Dr. Frank Nagel and his equally talented son, Conrad Nagel, are a delightful artistic duo, and their musical-dramatic presentation of William Cullen Bryant's great poetic masterpiece of nature "Thanatopsis" was, indeed, a finished piece of artistry.

The original musical setting played by Dr. Nagel in interpretation of the meaning of the poem provided a wonderful and pleasing background for his son's rendition of the words.

In response to the applause at the conclusion of the sketch Conrad Nagel stated that as yet neither he nor his father had ever found an encore number that could be used after the Bryant poem. He then presented his father again who played his own composition, "Night."

PLANS REMEDY TO AUTO CONGESTION

Police Chief Fraser Making Move to Relieve Heavy Brand Traffic

Chief of Police John D. Fraser states that he is making every effort to relieve the traffic congestion on Brand boulevard, occasioned by the closing of Los Feliz boulevard for repairs.

Two plans are under way. One is to have the contractors complete one section of the repairs at a time, whereas at present they have three blocks torn up. The matter has been taken up with the city council and results are expected to be forthcoming.

The other plan is to have the Los Angeles police department cooperate by furnishing traffic officers on their side of Brand boulevard, week days as well as on Sundays, during the hours of congestion.

Police Determined

There is a determination on the part of the Glendale police department to do everything in its power to bring this about, and confidence is expressed that next Sunday will not witness a repetition of the terrific jam of January 7, when thousands of cars were caught in that blockade and forced to proceed like snails, occasioning a delay of nearly an hour in regaining their homes, thus dulling the edge of the day's outing for all, as well as inconveniencing many more seriously.

If exercise of police pressure all along the line can alleviate the situation, it will most certainly be alleviated, states Chief Fraser.

'Pussyfoot' Johnson Starts New Campaign

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10. — As full of enthusiasm for the cause to which he has devoted his life as of yore, William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, fresh from a dry campaign in New Zealand today, launched the most comprehensive tour of the United States he has ever made to "clinch" prohibition.

There is not a chance in the world of the United States repudiating prohibition, Johnson declared, and his mission will be to drive home the benefits of prohibition, he said today. His tour begins in California after two weeks' visit at his son's ranch.

He predicted today a dry world, for the most part, within thirty years.

"The English colonies will lead the van, falling in behind the United States in the march for a dry world," Johnson declared.

172 Indians Given Sentence of Death

CALCUTTA, India, Jan. 10.—One hundred and seventy-two persons were today sentenced to death after trials for murder and arson resulting from non-cooperationist outrages in Chaurasi last February.

OFFICERS NAMED BY ASSOCIATION

Glendale Advancement Club Re-elects 1922 Officers for Ensuing Year

The Glendale Advancement Association, which met yesterday noon at the Broadway Inn, re-elected all of its officers for the present year.

President C. W. Ingledue, of 632 East Broadway, and Secretary Herman Nelson of 700 East Broadway, both made an attempt to decline the nomination but were prevented from doing so.

With several unfinished projects still under way, Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, Frank L. Fox, S. C. Kinch and others expressed an opinion that it would be a mistake to select a new group of officers at this time.

Rail Subscriptions

The collection of the subscriptions pledged to the $25,000 bonus promised the Glendale & Montrose Railway for the establishment of street car service on South Glendale avenue was the principal topic of discussion at the meeting.

The fact was emphasized that subscriptions have been pledged but that a large part of the money has not yet been collected.

"This money hasn't been collected," C. E. Stanley stated.

"This project will never go through until that money is in the bank.

Subscribers Move

Charles F. Stuart of 638 East Broadway reported that a number of people who had subscribed to this fund had either moved or were unwilling to meet their obligation. He suggested that it might be necessary to get some new subscriptions.

Mr. Nelson expressed his opinion that the shrinkage would be covered by the fact that the fund was slightly over-subscribed.

"This street car line is worth at a very conservative estimate a million dollars," remarked Mr. Stanley. "It is a funny thing if we can't raise $25,000."

Scarcity of money due to tax bills, street assessment bonds and the holidays was mentioned by Mrs. Tight as a reason why many subscribers might prefer to give notes due in sixty or ninety days. It was agreed that notes aceptable to the bank would be welcomed.

Attend Luncheon

The luncheon was attended by the following persons, in addition to those already mentioned:

George E. Caldwell, Fred W. McIntyre, W. R. Vanderwood, H. L. Finlay, W. H. Reeves, Charles Fischer, A Sapir, Mrs. A. C. Anderssen, Mrs. George Ward, Mrs. John Addison, Mrs. Thomas Addison, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mercer, C. C. Coghlin, Dr. G. I. Royce, Dr. Jessie Russell, Dr. C. C. Sherrod, Mrs. Mary Jane Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Lampert, Mrs. Harriet F. Frank and G. H. Goodale.

OFFER J. COOGAN HUGE CASH BONUS

Child Star's Contract Said To Be for Half Million; Arbuckle Makes Film

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. — A cash bonus of $500,000 has been offered Jackie Coogan, child star, to sign with the Metro Pictures corporation, it was reported here. The Metro offer is said to have no weekly compensation but that the young star will be paid on a percentage basis.

The offer for the young star's services is said to have been made to Jackie's parents who submitted the stipulations under which their son could be signed. The contract is expected to be closed within a few days, according to reliable information.

Arbuckle Starts Picture

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. — Roscoe E. (Fatty) Arbuckle, heavyweight comedian, started his "comeback" today with the beginning of actual work on the filming of a two-reel slapstick comedy, "Handy Andy."

The picture said to be of typical Arbuckle type, is said to be backed by San Francisco capitalists headed by Gavin McNab, the attorney who defended Arbuckle throughout his three trials for the death of Virginia Rappe. The production will cost $75,000 and require six weeks to film.

NIP COMMUNIST PLOT IN PARIS

Police Arrest Ringleaders; Seize Documents In Cachin's Office

PARIS, Jan. 10.—A communist plot against the French state was discovered by government agents today. The ringleaders have been arrested.

The communist conspiracy threatened both the internal and external security of France, it was announced, following a conference of state officials.

Those taking part in the conference were Minister of Justice Barthou, Minister of Interior Manuoy, the prefect of police and the attorney-general.

Police raided the office of the communist newspaper Humanite, seizing quantities of documents.

The government will ask the chamber of deputies to vacate Marcel Cachin's parliamentary immunity so as to permit his indictment for conspiracy with the communists. Cachin is a communist member of the chamber. Criminal proceedings were brought against him some time ago, but he was saved by the immunity conferred by his membership in the chamber of deputies.

Monte Vista Lodge to Hold Open House

Glendalians who have been interested in the work at the Monte Vista lodge at Sunland are to have the opportunity of paying it a visit Saturday, January 20, from 11 till 4 o'clock, when the board of directors of the Council of Community Service of California and the Monte Vista lodge committee will hold open house. The lodge is an organization for caring for under-nourished children.

Official Explains Income Tax Returns

Many inquiries are being received by Rex Goodcell, collector of internal revenue for this district, as to who is required to file an income tax. An impression prevails that any person who had an income of $1000 must make a return.

Collector Goodcell said today that the requirement is placed on every married person whose net income for $1922 was $2000 or more, and upon every single man whose net income was $1000 or more or whose gross income was $5000 or more.

The $1000 income requirement applied to single persons only.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Waiting For 'Big' News
California Republican
When It Rains In North
Hip Deep When It's Wet

By Gil A. Cowan

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—In the election of Assemblyman Frank Merriam of Long Beach to speaker of the house, Governor Richardson won his first round in carrying out the program of efficiency and economy.

While it was a victory of only one vote, that is enough. Both sides were confident of victory as the roll was called and only a check on the tally revealed the difference.

Floor leaders now are being brought forth and by this afternoon both houses will be able to take up the real problems. Senator Arthur H. Breed was unanimously named president pro tem of the upper house which is considered quite a compliment. The senate saw no fights for position.

That for the legislative part of the day's events. Inauguration of the governor, his reception and a banquet were the only things worthy of mention. However, some good news is bound to break soon and newspaper representatives are here from all parts of the state to catch the fragments.

California is certainly a Republican state, a survey of the legislators at the capital reveals.

Alex McMillan, a farmer from near Paso Robles, San Luis Obispo county, is the only simon-pure Democrat in the assembly and there are none in the senate with the exception of two or three who also scored a Republican nomination.

In a personal interview with the writer Mr. McMillan said he would follow as closely as possible the administration's program for efficiency and economy.

Believe one who is on the sidelines, that is all you hear talked at Sacramento.

Residents of Southern California may be glad that they really do not know what rains are. When it sprinkles in the south for several days the flood danger is sounded and the nation reads the dispatches from Los Angeles with the same avidity they now scan the stories from Washington state, where it pours and pours some more.

When it rains up in the great American lumber yard a person may begin reciting: "Sink or swim, live or die," for you have hip deep mud, impassable roads, bridges washed out and nothing left to do but pray for sunshine.

In Glendale and its sunshine there is little loss of property in any flood season and practically no lives are endangered if proper precautions are taken.

But in the northwest it is different. There the residents are but puppets of fate, the playthings of the elements.

Following are some comments from northern California papers for your perusal:

Because a man has a reputation of telling the truth is no indication that his truthfulness is in all cases commendable. Some people with even the best of intentions do not know how to curb their tongues. They blurt out the truth upon all occasions, and particularly at the wrong time. There are times when the cause of justice and humanity requires the suppression of the truth until the psychological moment for divulging it. Any other course would result in a miscarriage of justice. A wise tongue knows when not to wag.—Redding Searchlight.

"Billy" Sunday, who came to the rescue of "Fatty" Arbuckle and who says most ministers speak to "wood and varnish," now declares that the planet Jupiter was the star of Bethlehem when it shone brightly a few mornings ago. If Bill doesn't look out those L. A. fellows of the soft drink brigade will be calling him "Nut Sundae."—Hanford Sentinel.

A Missouri congressman wants anonymous letters excluded from the mails. Of course people who write anonymous letters would obey such a law.—Willows Journal.

Miss Sparrow, 14-year-old New York heiress, must get along on $2000 a month, says the court. That ought at least to keep her in bird seed.—Marysville Democrat.

CONSIDER SCHOOL PLAN TOMORROW

Citizens to Discuss Move to Expand Elementary Grade System

A mass meeting to consider the expansion of the elementary school system through a bond issue will be held tomorrow night in the assembly room of the Intermediate school.

This meeting is being called by W. E. Hewitt of 911 East Randolph street, who was elected chairman of the last mass meeting November 16, and requested to call it to order again as soon as the Committee of Fifteen should be ready to report.

"The committee has made a very careful survey of conditions," asserted Mr. Hewitt, and will present a full report. All are urged to be present.

Speed doesn't appeal to us, but we would like to see a straw hat given a fair chance on a good track in a high wind.

TRADE WAR WITH ENGLAND LOOMS

Great Britain Plans to Seize World Markets to Pay U. S. War Debt

By W. H. ATKINS
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — Great Britain has served notice upon this government that it will capture the world's markets to make it possible to pay the British $5,000,000,000 war debt to America.

In effect, it means a trade war. The American debt funding commission was left in no doubt today about the British purpose to pay, but the frankness of the British spokesmen in outlining a new policy of British trade dominance overshadowed the routine.

Chancellor Quoted

Stanley Baldwin, British chancellor of the exchequer, said:

"We have now seen that immediate repayment by gold is impossible and that an equivalent transaction in direct repayment by goods is full of difficulties, so we shall have to explore what remaining methods of international payment are presented by the markets of the world."

The British chancellor dealt a sharp slap at the new tariff law. Baldwin suggested that this law was a stumblingblock.

'LOU' WINKS AT FARRAR DIVORCE

Writer Says Actor Prefers Discussing Bernhardt's Fight for Life

By JAMES S. SHEEHY
For International News Service.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 10. — Lou Tellegen would much rather discuss Madame Sarah Bernhardt's courageous fight for life than the divorce action brought by his wife, Geraldine Farrar, which is to be argued Thursday in New York.

The distinguished dramatic actor here on a tour of vaudeville circuit, shies at mention of marital difficulties and jumps into other topics.

"You'll understand I simply don't want to parade family troubles before the public," he informed his interviewer. "It's all a matter for the attorneys, there isn't anything I care to say."

Makes No Answer

Quizzed as to his feeling toward his operatic star spouse, he rose from an easy chair, smiling slightly with kindly eye, yet threatening with his giant frame and one hundred and eighty pounds. He made no answer.

He recalled his western visit nine years ago as leading man for Mme. Bernhardt. When informed she was reported to be bankrupt, he exclaimed.

"And to think she made so much money. Bernhardt and Patti, they made millions but only Patti knew how to save hers."

Tellegen will rest three months in France after his present contract is up. He will then return to America and appear in a new play of his own.

Births

Deaths and Funerals

JOHN F. LAVELLE

The death yesterday, Tuesday, January 9, 1922 of John F. ("Jack") Lavelle, former resident of 1008 North Central avenue at a Los Angeles hospital was a great shock to his many Glendale friends. His death followed an operation performed in an effort to save his life after a twenty-four hour illness of spinal meningitis.

Mr. Lavelle was taken suddenly ill on Monday at his home in Hollywood and after suffering all day he was finally taken to the hospital where a corps of specialists decided that an operation was the only means of saving his life. The operation was performed on Tuesday but Mr. Lavelle failed to rally.

Mr. Lavelle, who was 46 years of age at the time of his death, came to California twelve years ago and spent five years in Oakland, where he was associated in the theatrical business with James W. Horne. Seven years ago he came to Glendale and had been connected with the stock brokerage business of Charles Carrere.

It was but three weeks ago on December 15 that Mr. Lavelle and Mrs. Rose Balerino of Hollywood were married by Rev. W. E. Edmonds at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carrere at 1152 North Louise street. Following their marriage they made their home in Hollywood.

Besides his wife Mr. Lavelle leaves a daughter and two sons, Audrey age 7, Russel 15 and Leslie 17.

Funeral services are to be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the church of the Immaculate Heart, Santa Monica boulevard and Kenmore avenue, Los Angeles. Burial will take place in the Hollywood cemetery.
